

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

CONTACT:

Robert Cable, Stanford Live

650-736-0091

rcable@stanford.edu

PHOTOS: <http://live.stanford.edu/press>

CELLIST ALISA WEILERSTEIN AND PIANIST INON BARNATAN CANCEL PERFORMANCE AT BING CONCERT HALL ON FEBRUARY 6

Stanford, CA, December 11, 2015—The cellist Alisa Weilerstein has canceled her upcoming Stanford Live recital with pianist Inon Barnatan on February 6 at Bing Concert Hall. The duo had planned to perform works by Chopin, Debussy, Rachmaninoff and a new composition from Joseph Hallman. No rescheduled date has been announced.

Ms. Weilerstein, a 2011 MacArthur Foundation “Genius Grant” winner, has been forced to curtail her travel schedule due to personal circumstances. Because she will be in the final stages of her pregnancy, it has been deemed unwise that she make an overseas flight and so it is with deep regret that she must postpone her visit to Stanford.

All current ticket holders will be given the option to use their credit for a future performance in the 2015–16 Stanford Live season or to request a refund. For more information, contact the Bing Concert Hall Ticket Office at 650-724-2464 (BING) or visit live.stanford.edu.

CANCELLED EVENT

Alisa Weilerstein, cello; and Inon Barnatan, piano

Saturday, February 6, 7:30 p.m.

Bing Concert Hall, 327 Lasuen Street, Stanford University